Can't reproduce… Can you please post the output of RAILS_ENV=production script/server? Thanks.

After several tests, I think I am closer to finding the cause of my problem.

First, I hooked my production database on a clean checkout of Redmine trunk (without any plugins) and found that the problem had dissapeared (I should have done this in the first place, before posting my message, sorry...).

I then switched back to my normal Redmine installation and started removing the plugins one by one, testing in between.

This way I found that the problem is apparently caused by the GOYELLO Schedules plugin.

So this is not a Redmine core problem; my apologies to all for this false alert...
And by the way, thank you for a great application and community !

- Status changed from New to Closed

- Resolution set to Invalid

No harm done, and thanks for the flowers (though those doing the heavy lifting don't come by here much...) :-)

I don't know what involvement the go yellow people still have in their plugins or in maintaining them, but try contacting them about this problem.
