Same problem here, but I can't even see lines when using Redmine 1.3.1.

I have created a new project with a Git repository on a Redmine 1.3.1 platform. I pushed some simple commits (using two different branches) but after fetching changesets (tried automatic fetching and manual fetching) I can just see what you see in the attached screenshot.

Environment:

```
Ruby version            1.8.7 (x86_64-linux)
RubyGems version        1.3.7
Rack version            1.1.2
Rails version           2.3.14
Active Record version   2.3.14
Active Resource version 2.3.14
Action Mailer version   2.3.14
Active Support version  2.3.14
Environment             production
Database adapter        mysql
Database schema version 20110902000000

Seems that Redmine isn't inserting any rows in changeset_parents table, that's why no lines are being drawn. If I manually create some rows those lines get displayed.

This is an upgraded Redmine 1.2.3 installation, if that helps.

Another update on this issue: in my case seems to be caused by redmine_gitosis plugin. After disabling it, new commits now get its lines drawn.

- Resolution set to Wont fix

As described in #5501#note-16, it is a limitation of the feature. Closing.

- Status changed from New to Closed
