Rendering /var/www/redmine/redmine-0.7.0/public/500.html (500 Internal Server Error)

I just realized that 0.7.1 is now available. If this problem was fixed in 0.7.1, my apologies.

It looks like a passenger relative problem. Can you give more informations, like the output of:

ruby script/about

Please?

#2 - 2008-05-14 14:05 - Steve Woodrow

Here is the output of ruby script/about:

About your application's environment
Ruby version          1.8.6 (i686-linux)
RubyGems version     0.9.4
Rails version        2.0.2
Active Record version 2.0.2
Action Pack version  2.0.2
Active Resource version 2.0.2
Action Mailer version 2.0.2
Active Support version 2.0.2
Edge Rails revision  rel_2-0-2
Application root     /var/www/redmine/redmine-0.7.0
Environment          development
Database adapter     mysql

Please update with any other requests for information; I would be happy to help. Thanks.

I'm not able to reproduce.

Could check the 'settings' table in your Redmine database and see if there is a column 'name'.

Do you get this error only when viewing the wiki ? Finally, could you try to restart the app and maybe upgrade to 0.7.1 ?

#4 - 2008-05-15 11:32 - Thomas Lecavelier

Steve, if you upgrade something on your box, think about upgrading your gem version: 0.9.4 is very old. 1.1.1 should be far better.

#5 - 2008-05-15 17:40 - Steve Woodrow

I've upgraded Redmine to 0.7.1 and will see what happens.

To clarify, this error only occurs sporadically, but when it does occur I need to restart apache. Thinking about it more, this leads me to believe it's more likely a Phusion Passenger (mod_rails) issue. Perhaps you want to close this issue until (if ever) it becomes clear that the fault lies with Redmine?

Also, re: a gems version of 0.9.4, I will try upgrading -- the higher-version packages on Portage (I'm running Gentoo) are not marked for release just yet, but I'll give them a shot.

Thanks!

Also, with respect to Jean-Philippe's question (<http://www.redmine.org/issues/show/1234#note-3>), yes, there is a column 'name' in the 'settings' table.

OK Steve, reopen this ticket if needed.

FWIW, I'm experiencing the same issues, with redmine 7.1 and Passenger.
