Description
I personally use "Reverse chronological order", so latest updates are top located. It is very inconvenient to get a update form at bottom, while latest update in top.

+1 here. It would be great to have the position of the update form configurable (top/bottom) or correspond to the order of the comments.

#3 - 2013-10-30 16:41 - # And

Actually, it's fixed by me and I used it on production Redmine version. Redmine developers only need to apply the given patch.
