I don't really understand. You need a text mask? So you can use regular expressions. You don't want that the user forget to fill the field? So you can set this field to "required".

Or do you mean that your custom field contains "Technical Analysis: ..." as a "mask"? What's about using a default value for your custom field? In addition to that you can use tree separated fields which you set as required, when closing the issue. (config of workflow)
Please give some feedback what you want to do.
