| Description | | | |
| When running <code>Redmine::IMAP.check(imap_options, options)</code> in a continuous loop with a delay (I don't want to boot the rails env every time) you will eventually get the error listed below depending on your mail provider's maximum concurrent users: | | | |
| <pre>rake aborted! Too many simultaneous connections. (Failure) /usr/local/lib/ruby/2.0.0/net/imap.rb:1156:in `get_tagged_response' /usr/local/lib/ruby/2.0.0/net/imap.rb:1210:in `block in send_command' /usr/local/lib/ruby/2.0.0/monitor.rb:211:in `mon_synchronize' /usr/local/lib/ruby/2.0.0/net/imap.rb:1192:in `send_command' /usr/local/lib/ruby/2.0.0/net/imap.rb:435:in `login' /home/ppretorius/workspace-ruby/redmine-2.3.1/lib/redmine/imap.rb:30:in `check'</pre> | | | |
| This problem is fixed by simply adding <code>imap.logout</code> and <code>imap.disconnect</code> at the end of the method: | | | |
| <pre>imap.expunge imap.logout imap.disconnect</pre> | | | |
| I got the solution from this stackoverflow post . | | | |
