#3 - 2019-07-01 09:38 - Erik E

+1 That would be a great and very useful addition. I hope that #29752 will help this feature request.

#4 - 2021-04-29 08:40 - Adrien Crivelli

+1, I'd love to see this now that #29752 has landed, and with the increasing use of Markdown everywhere.

#5 - 2021-05-14 04:00 - Takenori TAKAKI

+1

I think this additional feature will be very useful.

'Anotate' would be better displayed as plain text like the Github 'blame' page.

[eg. <https://github.com/ruby/ruby/blame/master/README.md>]

I made a patch to preview Markdown and Textile, and attach it.

#6 - 2021-05-14 05:20 - Takenori TAKAKI

- File 16849-repository_subversion_test.patch added

#16849#note-5

I made a patch to preview Markdown and Textile, and attach it.

When changing the repository data to 16849-subversion_repository.dump.gz, the unit test also needed to be changed.

I will post an additional patch.

Thank you for posting the patch.

I suggest adding the following small style changes:

- Add surrounding border as same as #29752#note-7
- Add some margin above the pagination buttons to prevent the border from overlapping with the pagination buttons
