Description

Hi. There is patch to change activity for project. It's will shows you when issue status was changed, assigned_to was changed, and when status and assigned_to was changed together.

I wrote test for this and everything works fine.

#3 - 2014-10-10 14:28 - Toshi MARUYAMA

- Description updated

#4 - 2014-10-10 14:34 - Toshi MARUYAMA

- Target version changed from 2.6.0 to Candidate for next major release

#5 - 2014-10-10 14:49 - Toshi MARUYAMA

- "Now assigned to" should be i18n.
- Asserting string should be literal not variable (e.g. #{User.find(2).name})
- I don't know why you use ".to_s[29..102]" for asserting.
- Please use #{ESCAPED_UCANT} instead of "Can't" for Rails4 porting.

#6 - 2014-10-12 01:18 - Mischa The Evil

- Priority changed from Low to Normal

I think this could be an interesting change, so I quick-tested the patch attached in note-1 on a test deployment of Redmine source:/trunk@13432[1]. Besides the points mentioned by Toshi, I have some additional remarks about the patch:

- some existing unit and functional tests need to be adjusted/tested/fixed to match the new fixtures: some tests produce failures currently[2]
- bug/typo (?) in Journal#event_title: data_for_assigned_and_status is called without checking if new_status is blank or not
- tests are not covering all cases; previous issue is not covered for example
- we should not have blank event titles (they're occurring eg. when only a note is added): blank event titles can't be clicked obviously
- event titles should be more standardized and consistent

I want to emphasize that I like the idea behind this change, but I think it really needs some improvements before implementation.

Mischa.

#7 - 2014-10-20 11:37 - Marcin Świątkiewicz

- File fixed_bugs_activity.diff added

I fixed bugs, change test for few more cases, now tests pass. Yes, there was few typo mistakes.

See diff.

Marcin.

#8 - 2015-09-17 15:17 - Marcin Świątkiewicz

- Status changed from New to Resolved

Here is a plugin for this improvement.

Tested with Travis on Redmine 3.1.0 and 3.0.3.

Repo: https://github.com/efigence/redmine_show_assigned_to_activity have fun.

Marcin.
