Description

I really think Redmine needs a good logo. Fortunately there is a good suggestion in https://www.redmine.org/boards/1/topics/1183

To force a decision a bit, I opened this ticket ;)

Yes - been out of Redmine for a while now - pleased to see the suggestions for logo. Martin's are very nice (I liked his very first suggestions best though - because of the tighter font). Redmine needs a logo - Martin's goes very well with the concept - I think

+1 for a logo and favicon

+1, the Redmine Mylyn Connector is using the logo from Martin already...

There is an official logo now, it seems: http://www.redmine.org/projects/redmine/wiki/Logo

However, for reasons unknown to me, the favicon is not (yet?) used on this site (see also https://github.com/edavis10/redmine_logo)

Indeed.

Interestingly, http://www.redmine.org/favicon.ico does exist but when downloading it, the web server delivers a zero byte file.

Perhaps it was broken by accident on the site and just needs to be restored? This should be a simple matter for anybody with admin access to the redmine.org server(s), just replace the bad favicon.ico with the the correct one from https://github.com/edavis10/redmine_logo/blob/master/favicon.ico favicon.ico master is source:trunk/public/favicon.ico .

He ignores my pull request.

I believe this problem has already been fixed. Currently, the favicon is displayed correctly on www.redmine.org.
