selenium-webdriver version was locked in order to support outdated Ruby 1.9.3 #24092 could you allow selenium-webdriver 3.4.0 if Ruby 2.0+ is used? I'm getting this error because of it: <pre>Selenium::WebDriver::Error::WebDriverError: unable to obtain stable firefox connection in 60 seconds (127.0.0.1:7055)</pre> Firefox 53.0.3 (selenium-webdriver 3.4.0 solves the problem) thanks

Firefox driver in 2.53.4 not working with Firefox 48

<https://github.com/SeleniumHQ/selenium/issues/2559>

#3 - 2017-06-27 09:57 - Pavel Rosický

This is very unsafe API

page.driver.browser.manage.window.resize_to(1024, 900)

it also doesn't work with a Chrome driver. It could be avoided by passing desired capabilities directly for each driver, but it's quite problematic to set up a custom resolution reliably right now.

Btw: phantomjs won't be supported anymore, see:
