Description
Why after?
I suggest to have 2 separate options: Truncate after one of these lines: xxxxxxx
Truncate Before one of these lines: xxxxx
This way we can target signatures, or email client original message quoting lines.

+1

This feature is required, when people are forwarding emails, and have multiple "disclaimers", which are common use-case in corporate environments.

Actually, having a way to remove part of email message between some lines is what's required...
