

Redmine - Patch #31324

Allow to set is_private flag through a keyword in emails

Description Currently it is impossible to set the is_private flag of an issue with an email keyword. The attached patch developed for Planio changes that.  The code will recognize yes/no values according to the users' and the default locale, as well as 0/1.

Thank you for posting the patch. But the test fails.

Failure:

```
MailHandlerTest#test_add_issue_with_private_keyword [test/unit/mail_handler_test.rb:507]:
Expected false to be truthy.
```

```
bin/rails test test/unit/mail_handler_test.rb:499
```

I found the following line in log/test.log.

```
MailHandler: missing information from John Smith: Unable to determine target project

My bad I admit I just ran the test against 3.4 (where it passed). I'll fix that tomorrow.

here's the fixed patch - the test email was still tailored to Planio's customized mail handler which is why it failed on vanilla Redmine.
