| Description The wiki formatting help for textile states that inline html is permitted. This does not appear to be the case for Redmine's implementation. However, textile itself does not possess a sufficiently rich set of formatters to substitute for html. If the issue is sql injection via a wiki page then I suggest that critical characters be escaped but that basic html still be permitted. |                 |                          |            |
