Description
Currently there are extra activities in PM issues. For example: developing, etc. Moreover activities are sorted in such way that management activity is not selected by default. This leads to the following problem - you have to select management activity each time and if you accidentally select another activity you have to go to timesheet page and remove incorret entry. I'm about way to limit list of activities for each tracker.

I too would like to see this feature added. We have about 20 different activities listed, and it would be nice if we could tie them to individual trackers.

For example, "Remote Support" activity is only available for the "Support" tracker, and "Administration" activity is only active for the "IT" tracker.

+1. This would be helpful for our use too.

What exactly is activity here? Is this a dropdown list of a custom fields?
