Description

In addition to Subtasking #443, how about showing the percentage values to the right of every subtask's progressbar?

```
Subtasks
Feature #123       New            |                       |    0%
Bug #456           In progress    |----------             |   50%
Feature #789       Closed         |-------------------|  100%

                             This values ^^^^
```

Just as the progress percentage value of the parent task.
It would be more evenly, wouldn't it?
