This sounds like a great patch that should be added to the base code. Being able to see multiple sub projects as part of the view is a common request.

I tried to apply this to the current trunk, but the differences are to great.

Any chance this can get applied to the trunk?

(Jean, I apologize if assigning this to you is the wrong thing to do, wasn't sure how else to make sure you saw it. If there is a policy for this, let me know.)

Please, take a look at the following patch. Maybe it will be useful for you. Thanks! <http://www.redmine.org/attachments/1178/subissues.diff>

This file has been updated. See here:

- <http://www.redmine.org/issues/443#note-95>

There is also this plugin:

I'm not sure which option is better. Could someone suggest? I'm using 0.8.2.

#5 - 2009-11-23 14:58 - Mischa The Evil

Added relation to #443.

#6 - 2010-03-23 16:07 - Vladimir Dzalbo

Jean,

So, if I understand correctly there's no plan to implement the 'tree' structure in the issues list view? Is that correct?

Thanks for your time!

#7 - 2010-03-23 16:41 - Jean-Philippe Lang

No. It's just that it's not implemented yet. It will be added in the near future.

#8 - 2010-07-07 13:47 - Holger Just

- Status changed from New to Closed

The Subtasks feature from #443 is included in the trunk. This patch is thus most probably obsolete.
