Description In bugzilla, we can ask for reviewing as patch: generally speaking an attachment can flag as "patch" and in this case the engine enable a flag to ask a review to project owner. The project owner can reject the patch (review-) or approve the patch (review+). It's great if redmine could be this in some way: add flag to attachment to make attachment "patch" and enable for "patch" flags to ask\accept\reject reviews

I think that in a production environment this is an essential feature: if I'm the owner of a project and some colleague create a patch, it's very important to communicate with him with flag: review+, review- (of patch).

Priority should be High and not Normal
