Description

maybe the display of the version number should be shown to logged in users or admins only.

Due to possible vulnerabilities in special versions.

I agree with you. Since it's a rather easy security issue to avoid, it should be implemented soon. Hoping that's this will be useless for a loooooooooong time :)

- Status changed from Closed to Reopened

Version number is still shown in atom feed.
For example, you can find the version number in the Activity atom's soure code.

```
  <generator uri="http://www.redmine.org/" version="0.7.devel.1695">
Redmine 0.7.devel.1695  </generator>
```

- Status changed from Reopened to Closed

- Target version set to 0.8

- Resolution set to Fixed

Indeed. Fixed in r2003 in pdf properties as well.

Thanks for pointing out.
