Description Currently Redmine is missing hook which would allow adding custom tabs to project settings menu. Attached file is a patch adding such hook named helper_projects_settings_tabs.  I know that there are ways to do this... But in this case you cannot install many plugins using such technique. I even have written a plugin providing this hook. :)  Of course, a better solution could be using MenuManager for project settings tabs...

I would be very interested in this feature, something new about this ?
The plugin mentioned above is very helpfull but isn't compatible with redmine 2.3
