Description In the the german translation there is a a semantic mistake. The "Update" button under Settings/Repository/Users, which is a kind of a Save button is translated with "Bearbeiten", which means not really "update", but "edit". "Speichern" oder "Übernehmen" would be better translations. In the english version I would also expect "Save" and not "Update".

This seams already be solved. At settings and users the button is called "Speichern". In the English version it's called "save" now, too.
