Description
Make it possible to import/export one or more projects from one Redmine to the other. Allow the export with or without tickets, wiki, forums, ... How: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- add import/export buttons to the project overview- when exporting: include site wide settings which are referenced in project- when importing:<ul style="list-style-type: none">- allow import in existing or new project- allow changing project name/id- preview what global settings (users, etc) will be changed- renumber sequential numbers (like ticket numbers) with following options:<ul style="list-style-type: none">a) try to keep number, b) add offset, c) add to end of issues Benefit: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- it would be possible to merge two redmine sites- it would be easier to split a site in two- it would be possible to migrate to/from hosting service- it would be easier to create another 'similar project'- redmine would be more cloud-ready
