Description

When not working in programming project, the version functionality is less important and it would be very handy to have a tag or directory functionality to manage the files in the file tab and the documents. Right now we are using the repository but it is less handy because you cannot commit files and not all of my colleagues are familiar with subversion.

I'm closing this very old issue, because DMSF (http://www.redmine.org/plugins/dmsf) has this functionality.
