Redmine - Feature #1213

Allow Slashes in wiki URLs

2008-05-08 17:01 - Jason Trahan

Status:	New		Start date:	2008-05-08
Priority:	Normal		Due date:
Assignee:			% Done:	0%
Category:	Wiki		Estimated time:	0.00 hour
Target version:
Resolution:

Description

Currently Trac allows you to use slashes to notate a hierarchy for the wiki pages. It would be nice is RedMine would also support the same concept.

Example.
SomePage/SomeSubPage1
SomePage/SubPage2/SubSubPage1
SomePage/SomeSubPage3

Trac also allows for directory style links. Examples ../ Will bring you up a level ./SubPage2 is a shorthand for the subpage so you don't have to link to SomePage/SubPage2 for example.

Related issues:

Has duplicate Redmine - Feature #21549: Add the Wiki pages' hierarchy on the ...	Closed

History

#1 - 2010-03-28 18:55 - Rivo Laks

This would be a very useful feature for adding some intuitive hierarchy to wiki pages.

Are there any plans to implement it in the foreseeable future?

#2 - 2012-02-23 19:27 - Matthias Lohr

+1

#3 - 2012-09-28 22:03 - Herman Fries

This could also make the "Parent page" field unnecessary as you can generate the breadcrumbs from he URL

+1

#4 - 2014-11-20 16:12 - Marcus Rejås

Herman Fries wrote:

> This could also make the "Parent page" field unnecessary as you can generate the breadcrumbs from he URL
>
> +1

This would be really nice ...

+1

#5 - 2015-12-10 11:45 - Maxmiliano Andriani

+1

#6 - 2015-12-10 13:06 - budo kaiman

+1 if this means pages can have the same name under different parents.

#7 - 2015-12-10 22:06 - Daniel Feliciano Branco

+1

#8 - 2016-01-08 12:04 - Toshi MARUYAMA

- Has duplicate Feature #21549: Add the Wiki pages' hierarchy on the URL path added

#9 - 2016-04-10 15:21 - Yehuda Deutsch

+1
In Gitlab the wiki was initialy flat, then they added support for slashes in wiki slugs.
Maybe the config/routes.rb from Gitlab will help moving this issue forward.
https://gitlab.com/gitlab-org/gitlab-ce/blob/master/config/routes.rb#L572

#10 - 2021-11-24 14:09 - Mega ZET

+1