Arg!

I just forgot to create ticket-categories for the project.. And because I wanted to have categories I cerated a custom field with the same name.
If there is no category defined for a project, there should not be an error when tickets are created that no category is chosen - there will not be any category that could be chosen... If this is a wanted behaviour an error should appear like "please configure ticket categories before you can go on..."

- Subject changed from ticket system. custom field (list, mandatory for all projects): item is selected but redmine does not accept it. to Unable to create an issue with category field required and no category defined

I guess you set the (core) Category field as required and have not created any categories in your project, am I right ?

You are right. Mabye there is a possibility to insert a hint for those who do the same I did. Finding the error took some time for me ;-)
