Description
When updating a note I can't change the visibility of this note. Is it possible to have the checkbox also on update mode ? It's possible on issue visibility. Although set notes private permission is checked. Happy new year !

When adding a note, most users forget to set the "private notes".
And at this time, it is not possible to change the private state (in contrast to issues, where private state can be changed).
This can be dangerous, because intentionally private notes (but added as public) are now visible to all users (without the possibility to correct this).

+1 We need this feature urgently, because the former Call-DB (Bugzilla) was able to do that and the users are accustomed to do it.

A patch that implements this feature was submitted on #22575. I tried out the patch and it works fine.

Setting target version to 3.4.0. 3.3.0 seems to be entering feature freeze.
