Description

Whenever I create a sub task in 99% the content of the fields (except description and title) are the same as the parent task (milesone, our custom ticket fields, etc.).

Could you add an option to redmine that not only opens the blanc new ticket view? an option "new subtask (copy parent ticket)" that copies all values (except parent ticket id, of course) from the parent task into the new subtask?

Very much typing could be avoided if redmine offers this feature...

Thanks for your great work!
