Description
Hi, I am attempting to instill google analytics on my commons blog using the 2011 theme which has no footer where I could paste the google analytics code. There are multiple wordpress plugins that allow you to use google analytics, though I do not see any currently available from within the commons plugins options. Is it possible that one could be made available, such as this one: http://yoast.com/wordpress/google-analytics/ thanks, Mark Porter Webb GC Digital Media Fellow, Anthropology

Sorry, this was intended for CUNY Academic Commons Redmine. There "Help" link dumps you out into your site which leads you to log-in there and submit these requests that aren't relevant to you all. You might urge them to clarify that that link takes them out of the CUNY Commons redmine system.

best,
Mark
