Description

I'm not landing on the home page after login, when I've entered something at the "lost password"-page before.

How to reproduce:
1. Click on "login" link at the top or just go to www.domain.com/login
2. Click on "Lost password"
3. Enter anything (or a correct/existing email)
4. Click again on "login" link at the top
5. Enter now your user name and password and click on the login button to login
6. DEFECT : "forget password"-page is shown again, instead of home page

You can also reproduce this bug on www.redmine.org.

Defect is still present and reproducable in redmine 3.x.
After diving in the source code, it looks like the back_url is fetched from HTTP_REFERER and used to redirect to on successful login after password change.
