Description
This patch adds the name of the author to the content in Atom feed entries, since some feed readers don't display the author information.

History

- File atom_author_in_content.patch added

Improved author name formatting.

#2 - 2008-06-25 04:53 - Reavis Sutphin-Gray

- File atom_author_in_content.patch added

The last patch didn't work. This one uses the username for the author in all cases.

Hello Reavis,

thank you for contributing to Redmine.

I think the Author information provided by feeds is so fundamental than any newsreader skipping it is broken. The lack of support probably comes from the fact that a lot of software were design so support RSS1 feed format, which does not support per-entry author. I think those readers must be fixed now.

Cheers,

I agree with Paul and prefer not to duplicate this information in entry description.
