Description

Hi,

Redmine is really useful for me, also I have a missing for me to use Redmine for a real project.
It's impossible to select some people to receive an e-mail notification, like this: http://flyspray.org/manual:notifications

It's really useful, because with this, it isn't necessary to use e-mails on a project, you add all people concerned by a task, and it's good, for each new post, everybody receives an e-mail => No information lost compare to e-mail discussions.

If your client has an access on your RedMine, the communication is better.

Thanks for your attention.

Hi Ludovic,

Interesting feature, indeed, but I think this request is a duplicate. Could you please check past feature requests, then link and close this issue if relevant. Thanks
