Description
Hi!
Thanks for the Bazaar support, it's great news. Just one bug I noticed, when I merge in a patch from another branch, it creates lots of random files in the diff view, e.g.
/ (-----) View differences
/revno: (245.1.177.1.264) View differences
/revision-id: (edd@usefulinc.com-20071206093450-ggsfwml7yvluv52s) View differences
/parent: (edd@usefulinc.com-20071205235019-wvkt8mffafi5lqy) View differences
/committer: Edd Dumbill () View differences etc, etc.
As a first request, it would be good to suppress these spurious entries.
As a second request, it would be nice to be able to represent the partial revisions, e.g. 245.1.177.1.264 in the example above, and allow browsing of them separately.
regards

it would be good to suppress these spurious entries.

This bug should be fixed in r962.

Can you give it a try (the repository needs to be reloaded in Redmine) ?

it would be nice to be able to represent the partial revisions

It's more like a feature request.

And it wouldn't be easy to handle with the current Changeset model.
