Redmine - Feature #1722

Allow linking between release and docs

2008-07-31 14:38 - Diego Plentz

Status:	New	Start date:	2008-07-31
Priority:	Normal	Due date:
Assignee:		% Done:	0%
Category:	Wiki	Estimated time:	0.00 hour
Target version:
Resolution:

Description

Create a way to do something like "tags" for the wiki (and link a repository tag with wiki). It will be useful to link a specific release with the wikidocs. For example, if your wiki has a doc of an integration module (done using a csv file), and it contains the file layout explanation, its something that is relevant to link "the layout file of this release of my integration software is explained by this version of the wikidocs". Its useful to avoid people that actually use a .doc file because isn't possible to do it in wiki.