Description

I like how redmine allows you to "easily" link to various documents or resources within redmine.

However, I noticed that (besides "Issues") there is not really a way for USERS to see or find out what ID Number the respective document or resource is, in order to link to it (without using the title).

It seems to me that it is somewhat pointless to have this feature of allowing USERS to link to documents and resources in redmine via ID Number when they cannot see ID Numbers for anything besides "Issues"

document#17

(Messages ONLY has this method of linking stated in the text formatting page...)

I propose that the ID Numbers be naturally displayed or have an option somehow to display it upon a user event.
