Description
I would be helpful to have spell checking functionality on the comments field, to provide more accurate results when searching issues.

I don't think it would be good to bundle a spell checker with Redmine. Then Redmine would have to manage all the dictonaries, languages, adding words to a dictionaries.... etc. I don't see the benefit of that much code overhead especially with browsers starting to build in native spell checking in.

I agree with Eric. This functionality can be provided by your browser (eg Firefox 3).
