Description

Recently I started using redmine in my company for the management of innovation projects. Currently, my team uses an excel file for the visual management of projects.

We use the model PM Canvas (<http://www.pmcanvas.com.br/>)

In order to centralize all artifacts in a single tool, I thought it would be a very useful plugin where I could ride with post-its that picture.

The plugin could be a simple page model where the users as access permissions on the plugin (module) could only view the information entered or there could insert / edit information.
