Description
The projects I currently look after are very heterogeneous: from legacy Cobol apps to modern Grails ones. Sometimes, it would be nice to have per-project custom fields in tickets.

Ticket custom fields can already be chosen at project level.
Go to project settings and check the custom fields you want to use for the tickets of the project.

If you want to use a ticket custom field for some projects only, don't check 'For all projects' on the custom field screen.
