Description

Home screen should have more usuful information. This change adds "Issue tracking" box to the home screen.

And we have difficulty viewing all issues across the projects, this change also improve the problem. No need to click "Projects" -> "View all issues". We can see all issues only by clicking "View all issues" on home screen.

I would try to avoid trashing Home page. There is My Page that is more appropriate for such things and more effort could be put to make it even more customize-able.
Also, in practice, who cares how many issues in all projects is there? We have dozens of projects and dozens of trackers, from 4 different groups, and no one is interested with such overall info, for sure not on Home page. There is a way to build such query for those who really want it.
