Description A few patches for UI/CSS that allow better/easier styling in themes. <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Patches 0001 and 0002: Replaces all uses of <code>image_tag()</code> to render icons with <code>icon-*</code> definitions. This makes it possible to replace all these icons with Font-based icons, e.g. FontAwesome.</li><li>• Patch 0003: A unimportant change to use the PDF icon for "Also available in PDF" links</li><li>• Patch 0004: Updates pagination to use <code>&lt;ul&gt;</code> and <code>&lt;li&gt;</code> to render the pagination part</li><li>• Patch 0005: Building on top of patch 0004, changes pagination to a GitHub like design that also looks and feels nice in responsive mode</li></ul> Based on r14881 , everything passes "rake test" and is tested in Firefox 42, Safari 9 and Chrome 46. More to come :)

History

#1 - 2015-11-16 21:35 - Daniel Ritz

Btw. also available here: <https://github.com/dr-itz/redmine/tree/ui-css-updates>

#2 - 2015-11-17 04:26 - Toshi MARUYAMA

- Status changed from New to Needs feedback

Could you separate patches to new issues?
It seems three group [1, 2], [3], [4, 5].

#3 - 2015-11-17 15:42 - Daniel Ritz

Done:

- 1,2: #21256. I folded the two patches into one and also corrected accidental duplicated CSS rules.
- 3: #21257. Same as here.
- 4,5: #21258. With minor correction in positioning, plus screen shot included.

#4 - 2015-11-20 02:22 - Go MAEDA

- Status changed from Needs feedback to Closed

Thanks for creating issues.

#5 - 2015-11-20 02:22 - Go MAEDA

- Is duplicate of Patch #21256: Use CSS instead of `image_tag()` to show icons for better theming support added

#6 - 2015-11-20 02:23 - Go MAEDA

- Is duplicate of Patch #21257: Use PDF icon for "Also available in PDF" added

#7 - 2015-11-20 02:23 - Go MAEDA

- Is duplicate of Patch #21258: Use <ul> to do pagination, styling in a GitHub like manner with improved handling in responsive mode added
