Description

In the current redmine version are two option possible for the % done" ration:

- via user selectable pulldown menu
- via ticket states.

Via ticket state mode the percentage value can be left empty.
In the documentation Issue statuses its documented:

> As per screenshot below, you can set the % Done for each status - (if left blank, changing an issue to this status will not change its percent done.)

Would it be possible to enhance this with another option?
If the % done is left blank, redmine will display the pulldown menu like in the mode via user selectable drop down menu?

This would give the option, that a developer can adjust the % done" in some states.
But if the tickets will be set as an example into 'QA' issue state get an fixed value.
The same is can be done for the closed states.
