Description

Working at #23980 we discovered that some links or other elements with icons (background image) doesn't use the regular "icon icon-*" classes.

I think that for consistency, better theme support and easier styling, we should add the "icon icon-*" also to these elements.

The attached patch is a first patch that implements this for admin menu links.

Added the last patches:

- 05_use_regular_icons_in_search_results.patch:

The change from the view (app/views/search/index.html) was required because the classes in the search page are delimited by space and not by "-" like in the activity page even if are the same events. I think that this fix should be made in the Search and libs modules in order to return the same event_type for closed issues, but I wasn't able to do it.

event type: closed issue
class in activity: "issue-closed"
class in search: "issue closed"

- 06_other_pages.patch

Changes in various pages: like favorite projects, members, attachments, forums.

- 07_small_improvement.patch:

The class "icon" should not have the rules with padding-top and padding-bottom because these are required only when the font size is smaller than the default one (like is in the contextual block or calendar).

- Updated an already uploaded patch to use the background-image rule and not just the background rule.

- There are some rules in the CSS file that I wasn't able to find them in the application:

```

span.add_attachment a {padding-left:16px; background: url(../images/bullet_add.png) no-repeat 0 50%; }

.task_late { background:#f66 url(../images/task_late.png); border: 1px solid #f66; }
.task_done { background:#00c600 url(../images/task_done.png); border: 1px solid #00c600; }
.task_todo { background:#aaa url(../images/task_todo.png); border: 1px solid #aaa; }
...
.project.task_late { background:#f66 url(../images/milestone_late.png); border: 1px solid #f66; height: 2px; m argin-top: 3px;}
.project.task_done { background:#00c600 url(../images/milestone_done.png); border: 1px solid #00c600; height:
2px; margin-top: 3px;}
.project.task_todo { background:#fff url(../images/milestone_todo.png); border: 1px solid #fff; height: 2px; m argin-top: 3px;}
.project.marker { background-image:url(../images/project_marker.png); background-repeat: no-repeat; border: 0;
 margin-left: -4px; margin-top: 1px; }

Any feedback is welcome on this issue.

I've updated the patch 05_use_regular_icons_in_search_results.patch in order to preserve the event type class like you made in the activity.

Thanks for committing this patch so fast.

There was a difference between Issue and Journal acts_as_event definition. It's fixed and I've removed the #parameterize call from the patch.

#7 - 2016-11-19 09:55 - Jean-Philippe Lang

Patch 6 committed with several changes. I've added a few icon-* (eg. icon-sticky) classes that are more meaningful than icon-arrow-right, even if they actually use the same image in the default CSS.

#8 - 2016-11-19 09:58 - Jean-Philippe Lang

- Status changed from New to Closed

- Assignee set to Jean-Philippe Lang

And I've hidden the user icon on the member list, just like it was before the patches.

All patches are now committed, thanks.

Thanks Jean-Philippe Lang for your feedback on these patches.

I think that one more change is required, you committed the 02_use_regular_icons_in_overview_tab.patch and not the second version of the patch 02_use_regular_icons_in_overview_tab_v2.patch which contains a small fix for .icon-new class.

.icon-news { background: url(../images/news.png); }
```

should be

```
.icon-news { background-image: url(../images/news.png); }
