Description

From the redmine/PluginGoogleAnalytics page I see:

Installation and Setup:
1. Download the plugin. ...
2. Login to your Redmine install as an Administrator.
3. Configure your settings in Administration > Information > Configure

But the correct instruction at step three is:
3. Configure your settings in Administration > Plugins > Configure

(Maybe this changed recently and the wiki was not updated?)

Sorry if this is not the correct place to submit this issue report. I'm new to redmine and once registered on the redmine.org site, didn't find a way to participate in /wiki/redmine/PluginGoogleAnalytics location.

Fixed.

There's bound to be more of these, since the Administration panel recently had plugins moved out of Information section. I'm going to be testing my plugins with 0.8 and updating all of their documentation at that time.
