Description

The issues that I care about most are: 1. those assigned to me, 2. those I've reported, 3. those I am watching. The first two already appear on "My Page", and it would be very helpful if there was also a list of watched issues as well.

Such a list would also provide a quick way to jump to issues you want to unwatch.

You can actually add them to your page:

Doesn't it work for you?

Well after your reply I went back to "my page" and looked around harder and noticed the personalize link, and that did work for me! But I've been using Redmine for a few months now and never noticed that link before. I think it is a bit too subtle currently.
