Description I've updated the git patch so that it should apply cleanly against svn revision 1069. I needed to change the db migration number as well as fixing a few hunks that couldn't determine where they needed to apply due to trivial nearby context changes. This, best I can tell with cursory use, appears to be working properly. Could someone please commit this to the main trunk so we don't have to keep tracking this patch? Thanks! Rick
