Description

Environment:

- Redmine version   3.3.1.stable
- Ruby version   2.1.8-p440 (2015-12-16) [i386-mingw32]
- Rails version   4.2.7.1
- Environment   production
- Database adapter   Mysql2

Context:

I have created a custom field of type Boolean, with a description.
When I edit an issue that possesses this custom fields, I get a behaviour that can be a drawback.
If I click on the underlined text Exported, the radio button (none) get selected.

Expected behavior:

- To select a radio button, either click on the button itself or its text.
- Clicking on the text of the custom field must not have any effect on the current selected button.
