Description

I couldn't figure out if it was posible to change the tracker type to something else. So i'm submiting this as a Feature request. For example if i submit a bug, but it turns out that it's working as intended so i would need to change the tracker field from bug to feature. This would be helpfull for reports, since sometimes a bug would count against you on a SLA. if this field would be changeable with the correct permision would complete this request.
