

Redmine - Feature #268

self registration for new user at login?

2006-08-17 04:37 - Karim Trott

Status:	Closed	Start date:
Priority:	Normal	Due date:
Assignee:		% Done:	0%
Category:		Estimated time:	0.00 hour
Target version:
Resolution:
Description
Hi Jean-Philippe,
I would like to have to the opportunity for an new user to register himself when coming to the site for the first time. I would use a default role as reporter for this new user. Before I try to adjust the code for my (and eventually break with future upgrades) I thought I ask you if you think this can be a feature of an upcoming release?

History

#1 - 2006-08-18 13:05 - Jean-Philippe Lang

Hi,
In the next version (0.3.0), user self-registration will be available. LDAP authentication will be also available and it will be possible to create accounts on the fly, based on information available in the LDAP. If LDAP authentication is not used, user will have to fill a form to register and activate his account (with an url sent by mail).

Best regards,

JP

#2 - 2006-10-08 15:46 - Jean-Philippe Lang

added in 0.3.0