

Redmine - Feature #276

Please add CVS support

2007-02-23 20:42 - Daniel Berger

Status:	Closed	Start date:
Priority:	Normal	Due date:
Assignee:		% Done:	0%
Category:		Estimated time:	0.00 hour
Target version:
Resolution:
Description Please add CVS support. I know SVN is a better alternative, but lots of folks have projects in CVS repositories, and having support for it would make transitions from their current repositories over to RedMine easier. In truth, I'm thinking about a possible transition from the current RubyForge site to one that uses RedMine instead. Tom Copeland has taken an interest, btw. :) Thanks, Dan

History

#1 - 2007-02-24 04:54 - Jean-Philippe Lang

I'm honored :) I'll try to do my best to help.

Regards,
Jean-Philippe

#2 - 2007-05-24 14:47 - Daniel Berger

Any word on this?

Thanks,

Dan

#3 - 2007-05-24 15:23 - Jean-Philippe Lang

Hi,
Someone was working on cvs support.
I've just sent him a message to get some info.
I hope to have good news soon.

#4 - 2007-06-12 16:15 - Jean-Philippe Lang

Basic support for CVS and Mercurial SCMs is added in rev 559.

Browsing, changesets fetching and diff viewing are implemented.
Only tested with local repositories.
Thanks to Ralph Vater for CVS specific code.