Description

I know that Redmine is an open-source product but just wanted to know if we can use it to organize a small personal project? If yes, then is it free? If no, then what packages are being offered? If it is free then how can we create our own projects? I just navigated the available screens it appears I cannot directly create any projects as I do not have the required rights.

`Will be waiting.`

Thanks & Regards
Ayesha

Why don't you use the forum for such questions? You won't get any answer here.
