Description

Hello,

i had installed redmine on debian jessie with apt repository running on apache2, configured redmine and beeing almost ready to use. One thing i'm not able to run are the attachments. The upload is working, physically the files are stored in /var/lib/redmine/default/files but i can't see none of them in the frontend. Neither in documents nor in files or any attachments to tickets. In configuration.yml i left attachments_storage_path: empty, the logs are saying that the upload is successfull. Switched off all server security options. Maybe someone has a idea, because i have no clue, what is wrong there.

cheers
