Description

Permission table for trackers (placed on the bottom of permissions page for a Role) does not have "check/uncheck all" icon.

Almost all tables which have many checkboxes have "check/uncheck all" icon (e.g., Workflow, Permissions report, Trackers summary). I think that also permission table for trackers should have the icon for usability and consistency. Checking/Unchecking many checkboxes is tiresome work especially when the Redmine instance has many trackers.

I thought about it too, but I wasn't sure how to deal with the All trackers row. If this is checked, all checkboxes from that column are already disabled, so the tick will be useless.

I tried writing a patch to add a toggle checkboxes link only to the row.
However, I think that it may be better to have a "row" and "all" toggle checkboxes link instead of the All trackers row like other screens.

LGTM, setting target version to 4.1.0.

Marius Ionescu, what do you think about Mizuki's implementation? It has checkboxes only for rows, I think it still useful.
